Job Description

FP&A Analyst

North Dublin

€60k, plus excellent benefits

Are you a finance professional looking to move beyond traditional reporting and into a role where your insight directly shapes strategic decision-making?

We are currently looking for a Financial Analyst with strong analytical acumen and a proactive mindset. This is not your typical finance role! We are looking for someone who is ready to step into the shoes of a business advisor, not just a reporter of numbers.

The Role:

As part of a dynamic finance team, you will work alongside the Finance Business Partner to drive business performance and offer consultative financial guidance across departments. Your primary focus will be to improve the business through value-added reporting, analytics, and strategic insight.

Key Responsibilities:

Go beyond reporting: act as a business partner and financial consultant to stakeholders across the business

Lead and deliver value-adding financial analysis focused on performance trends, forecasting, and commercial opportunity evaluation.

Take ownership of month-end closing, including preparation of the P&L and Balance Sheet.

Prepare and calculate provisions and accruals, ensuring completeness and accuracy.

Manage the calculation of variable compensation, liaising closely with regional Payroll and Payments teams.

Support internal and external audits, ensuring full transparency and compliance.

Requirements:

Degree in Finance, Business, or Economics

2 years in a financial or audit-related role.

Advanced Excel user.

Strong understanding of financial processes including P&L, accruals/deferrals.

Critical thinker with analytical problem-solving skills.

Please apply today for immediate consideration!
