Job Description

Chartered Structural Engineer – Senior/Principal Level

Location: Midlands HQ (flexible hybrid working)

Salary: €60,000 – €80,000 + benefits

Contract: Full-time permanent OR consultancy/associate arrangement

Shape Ireland's Built Environment

Are you a Chartered Structural Engineer seeking your next big challenge? Whether you're an experienced senior/principal engineer or a former practice owner looking for security, stability, and exposure to landmark projects, this role offers the perfect balance of professional growth and personal flexibility.

Our client is a privately owned building consultancy practice, established for almost 30 years, delivering integrated consultancy services to both public and private sector clients. With a flat organisational structure, engineers are empowered to fully engage and contribute to the direction of the business. As part of national frameworks, the practice regularly leads on tender submissions, project wins, and project delivery — giving you the chance to play a pivotal role in Ireland's most high-profile educational, historical, and corporate building projects.

What You'll Be Doing

Leading on large-scale educational, heritage and corporate projects, from tender through to delivery. Acting as a key client contact, managing stakeholder relationships with professionalism and impact. Bringing your chartered expertise to guide and mentor others, ensuring excellence in design and delivery. Collaborating with a tight-knit senior team in the Midlands HQ (some in-office time expected monthly, especially during induction).

Driving innovation in a consultancy that values your input, expertise, and professional judgement.

What's On Offer

Competitive salary €60k – €80k depending on experience.

Flexible working hours and hybrid working arrangements — designed around you.

The opportunity to join on a full-time contract or collaborate as an associate consultant with your own practice.

Satellite office in your region (after probation) to support your work-life balance.

Professional development and support for continuous learning.

Pension contribution, health insurance, and expenses package.

A clear career path with progression to Associate level.

Exposure to prestigious projects that shape Ireland's educational, cultural, and corporate landscape.

What You'll Bring

Chartered Structural Engineer status (essential).

Senior/principal level experience in building consultancy or structural/civil engineering.

Proven ability to manage complex projects and build lasting stakeholder relationships.

A proactive mindset with strong communication and leadership skills.

Take the Next Step in Your Career

This is more than just a job — it's a chance to secure your future, expand your professional influence, and contribute to some of Ireland's most important projects.
