Job Description

Job description

IO Resource is a trade-only distributor of barcode scanners, rugged handheld computers, label printers and point-of-sale hardware, based in Rathnew, Co. Wicklow. We supply resellers and IT departments across Ireland and the UK.

We are looking for a reliable, hands-on person to join our warehouse and technical service team, four hours a day, five days a week (around 20 hours). Core hours are 10:00 to 14:00, with some flexibility for the right person.

The role combines warehouse work — goods in and out, picking, packing, dispatch and stock control — with technical service: setting up and configuring devices (Android handhelds, scanners and printers), testing returns and helping with basic repairs. Full training is provided; you do not need to know our equipment already, but you should be comfortable with technology and good with your hands.

This could suit someone semi-retired from a technical, engineering or IT background; a student on a technical or engineering course who wants regular hours around study; or anyone looking for school-hours work, as 10 to 2 fits neatly around the school run.

What matters most is reliability, a genuine aptitude for technology, attention to detail, and the ability to do physical warehouse work. Any experience with IT hardware, electronics or barcode/EPoS equipment is a bonus but not essential. On-site in Rathnew; own transport is useful as public transport is limited.

To apply, email your CV and a short note to careers@ioresource.com, telling us why the job and the part-time hours suit you.
