Job Description

As a Web Developer at Graphedia, you'll work closely with designers, senior developers, project managers, and clients to build and support websites using PHP and WordPress. You'll be hands-on in development, contribute to technical decision-making, and help ensure a seamless experience for our clients.

Key Responsibilities:

Develop custom websites using PHP, WordPress, and ACF (Advanced Custom Fields)

Provide website support and resolve technical issues for clients

Maintain and improve existing websites for performance, accessibility, and usability

Liaise directly with clients via phone and email to clarify requirements and provide solutions

Conduct code reviews and contribute to a clean, maintainable codebase

Debug and resolve issues using appropriate tools and techniques

Manage basic server-side tasks (e.g., hosting setup, DNS, email configuration)

While we embrace AI in development, we're looking for developers who understand the code they write, not those fully reliant on AI tools.

This is a full-time, on-site position in Wexford.

Remote work is not available due to the nature of our client relationships and the data we handle.

Trust and in-person collaboration are key.

Who We Are Really Looking For

At Graphedia, we build more than just websites; we build relationships. Our clients are everything to us, and they genuinely enjoy working with our team. That's why we're looking for real people, not robots.

We want someone with personality, someone who's friendly, engaging, and comfortable picking up the phone to talk to a client or teammate. If you're the kind of person who enjoys helping others, can have a bit of fun while being professional, and brings positive energy into a room (or a Zoom call), you're already halfway through the door.

We genuinely care about our people and the community we work in. Graphedia is proud to foster a positive, ethical, and socially responsible environment. You can view our Environmental, Social & Governance (ESG) commitments here.
