Job Description

Kontour is an established bespoke kitchen and furniture company working with high-end residential clients, interior designers, and architects across Ireland. Our work is almost entirely referral-driven — a reflection of the quality, craftsmanship, and personal service we're known for. We design and manufacture fitted kitchens, utility rooms, boot rooms, wardrobes, and media units to an exceptional standard. We're looking for an experienced kitchen designer to join our team and play a key role in delivering beautifully detailed, bespoke projects.

This role calls for a confident, fluent SketchUp user who relies on it as a daily design tool. You should be comfortable working to a high level of detail and using the software's full capabilities. What you'll bring:

Proven experience designing bespoke or high-end fitted kitchens

Strong, hands-on Sketch Up skills, including dynamic components and Layout

Excellent attention to detail and the ability to follow technical surveys and notes precisely

An eye for design, proportion, and how a kitchen is actually built and installed

The ability to manage projects accurately from concept through to order

A collaborative, reliable approach and pride in your work

What we offer:

The chance to work on genuinely bespoke, high-quality projects

A supportive, close-knit team and a company that values doing things properly

A competitive salary commensurate with experience
